

SECURITY ADVISER (Corporate)

Power Generation Industry

One of Europe's major power generating companies is seeking to appoint an experienced security manager /adviser with responsibility for advising on security matters across its UK sites.

IJA have been appointed to conduct the recruiting and evaluation process to find the right person for this new and demanding role.

The role requires solid experience in the fields of threat and risk assessment, developing security strategy and the formulation and application of realistic security plans that apply to a multi-site operation. The ideal candidate will be able to demonstrate practical knowledge gained within within commercial multi-site environments.

The appointed Adviser will be required to conduct threat assessments, develop risk registers and will conduct surveys covering all associated businesses and operational premises including administrative, commercial and industrial sites. Working with site management, he/she will develop overall policies and procedures within corporate guidelines and will provide direct support to location and corporate managers.

He/she will establish and maintain close liaison with the police, agencies and emergency services, representing the company in relation to threat identification / evaluation, emergency preparedness and other specific security issues.

Candidates should be security professionals who can demonstrate substantial / progressive management experience, preferably at least 10 years, in comparable industries and be able to show an in depth knowledge of asset protection including security equipment specification, guarding and audit. They should have outstanding written and spoken communications ability (in English), be experienced in working up to Board level and be familiar with relevant IT software tools.

The post offers an attractive salary and benefits package and will be based on the M4 Corridor; considerable travelling within the United Kingdom will be required.

Interested candidates should forward their Curriculum Vitae, highlighting relevant skills and experience, by post or email before 5pm on Wednesday, 30 September 2009 to John Julian CPP, Senior Consultant at IJA, Linden Place, Seale, Farnham, Surrey GU10 1HS, email j.julian@ija.co.uk. Initial interviews will be conducted by telephone and shortlisted candidates will be invited for initial formal interview in October 2009.